1. Administration of Oath
No oath was administered.
2. Communication from the Chair

The Chair made the following communication

Honourable Members,

I line with the constitutional requirement on citizen engagement on governance matters and the government policy on e-governance, the Nyandarua County Assembly has taken steps towards achievement of this duty.

The Constitution of Kenya under Article 10 enshrines public participation as a key principle of governance. Among the objects of devolution as outlined under Article 174 of the constitution is to enhance the participation of the people in the exercise of the powers of the state in making decisions affecting them. Further, Article 196 mandates that the County Assembly to facilitate public participation and involvement in the legislative and other business of the assembly and its committees. It is on this premise that this house has provided for public participation in our standing orders.

In undertaking public participation, the County Assembly shall stand guided by Section 87 of the County Government Act 2012 which outlines the principles of citizen participation. Among them is “timely access to information, data, documents, and other information relevant or related to policy formulation and implementation;”

The County Assembly has thus undertaken several measures to ensure communication and access of information to the public. The County Assembly website is a key tool that has been used in this.

I would now wish to inform you honourable members that we have now gone a step ahead and secured the Bulk Short Messaging Services. This service will help us disseminate information to you members and to the public in an official and customized manner. I am therefore beseeching you to embrace this and kindly provide the names and phone contacts of your residents to enable creation of a data base. This will ultimately help us communicate with ease and effectively to you and to the great residents of this County.

There has also been established a publication unit that has been tasked with preparation of the Assembly magazine. This magazine will go a long way to provide an interactive forum between the assembly and the residents. It will be a periodical magazine published quarterly. Honourable members, you are being called upon to support this initiative and submit your articles to publish on the magazine. Kindly get in touch with the office of the clerk for further information and modalities on how to undertake the same.

Thank You Hon. Members and May God Bless You.

HON. JAMES NDEGWA WAHOME
